

In May 1912 Waterhen was finished and people queued up to have a flight. There was nowhere else in Britain where passengers could fly in a floatplane.

The first lady passenger was called Gertrude Bacon. She had a camera and took photos from the air. She was the first lady in the whole world to fly in a floatplane!

